SIG's Kick-Off, Phase II, a New Challenge

By Alvaro Dreyer

Welcome to SIG's (Integrated Management System) Newsletter.

We have great news today.

As it is known, the Integrated Management System is a tool that helps us developing our work more professionally.

We all know the continual improvement concept which we daily apply to our work, but in this case we will apply it to the Integrated Management System.

What does this mean?

It means UME has a solid vision and it is time to include all the areas of the organization to adopt SIG's good practices, aiming to improve professionalism in the varied activities performed.

It is with this aim that a detailed work plan called "SIG phase II" has been approved.

Participants will be involved independently according to the activities.

We are all important SIG members, notwithstanding the activity we perform.

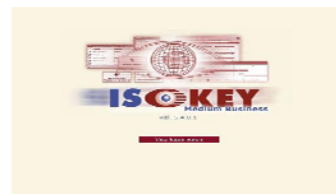

We will deal with the following:

- Process indicators
- Automatic loading of information
- Accidents and incidents management
- Non conformities in all areas
- Module of environmental aspects evaluation
- Change management, etc

To achieve these goals successfully we need your support and commitment.

INGHENIA's team which has shown great professionalism will join us in this project.

ISOKEY will continue to support for new functions.

We are very grateful and welcome you! ■
